Petition Dy 12-6-1912

Prays that the Dy Commissioners order appealed against may be held in abeyance pending disposal of her appeal to Govt

The petr states that since the death of her husband, Smt "Badi" appointed by Govt was attending to the Archak duties, that the Ag incumbent was giving one-half of the pay of the appointment for her maintenance as being the widow of the original hakdar, that the effect of the Dy Comrs. order is that the "Badi" has been turned out and consequently she has been deprived of her bread she therefore prays that the Dy Comrs order may be kept in suspense, the Ag incumbent being ordered to continue in the post as before

Submitted for orders While calling A/1332 for records in the case, 13612 may the Dy Comr be asked to keep his order in abeyance pending disposal of this

The Barawarddan Arachak is said to have died in February 1911 and the duties are ~~said to have~~ being performed by an acting Arachik appointed by the local authorities pending the settlement of succession to the Baraward. About the middle of last month the D.C seems to have decided the baraward being registered in the name of one Subaraja Deekohitha. The widow of the late barawarddan has appealed agst the D.C's order, to Govt, and prays that the said order may be kept in abeyance pending the decision of the appeal, particularly because she loses her means of livelihood as described in the office note above.

I think the 'stay' order may be issued, as it only means a continuance of the arrangement which has been in existence for

Rameswara and Mallikarjuna

Swami temples at Nanjangud on a pay of Rs 9-12-0 per mensem on his death the hereditary was made out in the name of his son-in-law (daughter's husband) Gangadhara Deekshit

He is reported to have no sons. His daughters Lakshmi

Devamma

Devamma married Agamk

Kumaraswamy Deekshit who has two sons named Subraya

Deekshit and Nanjunda Deekshit.

After the death of Gangadhara

Deekshit the karavard was made in the name of his younger brother Nanjunda

Deekshit (appellants' husband).

It is reported that Nanjunda

Deekshit died in February

1911 and a Co-Archak was doing the duties of the deceased and receiving the pay. As this arrangement was very much the Amildar insisted insisted on a separate Archak being appointed.

3. Subbamma, the appellant, requested that the barawar of her deceased husband Shou be made out in her name as the deceased had no issue while Aganik Kumara Swami Deikshit requested that the barawad should be made out in the names of his sons as they were the grandsons of Gangadhara Deekshit.

4 The Sub divisional officer of Nanjangud Division, submitted the the records to this office and recommended that the Inaward might be made in the name of Subraya Deekshit and that Rs 2-12-0 per mensem might be ordered to be given to Subbamma for her maintenance.

5. On 16.5.1912 I ordered that the Inaward should be made out in the name of Subraya Deekshit, grandson of Gangadhara Deekshit, and that the Inawarddar and Subbamma should settle themselves about the allowance.

The present appeal to to Government is against the above order.

issue about 1879, the office was registered in the name of Gangadhar Dikshit husband of his daughter Subbamma. Subbamma died in January ~~1813~~ 1883 leaving a daughter Lakshmidevamma
-who married Kumaraswami Dkshk Dikshit / the respondent.
Gangadhar Dikshit married again one Parvatamma. He died on 11th August 1897. The widow Parvatamma petitioned the Amildar on the 14th August 1897 to transfer the office to t name of Nanjunda Dikshit the brother of Gangadhar Dikshit.
The respondent Kumaraswamy Dikshit was present during enquiry on this petition but appears to have raised no obj tion On the recommendation of the Deputy Commissioner, i was ordered in Rubkari No. 805 dated 25th November 1897 that the Archak baxnaward be transferred to the name of Nanjunda Dikshit . The latter performed the duties until Feb. 1911 when he died leaving a widow by name Subbamma who is the present appellant. Subbamma prayed for the Registry of the office in her name. A counter claim was advanced by Kumaraswami Dikshit on behalf of his minor sons Subraya and Nanjunda, the dohitras (late Gangadhar Dikshit. The Deputy Commissionerordered that the vacant office should be registered in the name of Subraya the elder of the boys. Against this order Subbamma has appealed to Government . The case was finally heard by Government on 13th August 1913, the appellant being present in person and also represented by her Advocate.

Lakshmidevamma Married Kumaraswamy Dikshit

Late Subbamma Claimant.

Subraya Nanjunda.

When Lingabhat died , the office was bestowed on his son-in-law Gangadhar Dikshit who was not a legal heir to him, and as the latter and his brother were adverse possession from

1679

1879 to 1911, the claims of all Lingayats' agnates are barred.

On Gangadhar Dixit's death, his brother Nanjunda Dixit got the office with the consent of his brother's widow Parvatamma. The widow's consent would only affect her life interest, but as she died in 1878, Nanjunda Dixit's possession became adverse to the daughter of Gangadhar Dixit who had the right to succeed after her step-mother. Neither she nor her sons coming after her can now claim it.

The post should therefore be registered in the name of Subbamma widow of Nanjunda Dixit and a Gumastha (approved by Government) appointed on her behalf.
